

Botany360 Presents: De-mystifying the manuscript submission process

A two-part walkthrough and Q&A of the academic publication process with publication experts

Writing up your first study?
New to research publications?
Want a better submission and review experience?
Come join us!

A panel of publishing experts and early-career botanists will explain the review process and offer tips for every stage of publication, from choosing a journal through proofing and hyping your newly published work. Make your next manuscript submission more enjoyable and less stressful! These sessions will focus on BSA-affiliated journals (American Journal of Botany and Applications in Plant Sciences) but are broadly applicable across most biological publications.
