The Botany in Action (BIA) Fellowship program fosters the development of the next generation of plant-based scientists who are committed, first, to excellent research, and second, to educational outreach. Open to Ph.D. students enrolled at U.S. graduate institutions and conducting plant-based scientific research, the program provides each fellow with: 1) $6,000 for use towards research-related expenses at sites in the US or abroad, 2) an all-expenses paid trip to Phipps to engage in science outreach training and opportunities, and 3) subsequent opportunities to connect their research with the public through programs, exhibits, and other outreach venues.
